Two Bums launches its new range of 'cheeky' bikinis

IT'S hard to believe it has been less than a year since booming local bikini brand Two Bums had its launch on the Coast.

Last night designer Rosane Blanco proved her Brazilian two-pieces were here to stay when she launched her new range at Motown.

Sexy girls wearing even sexier bikinis paraded, and there was even a bit of male eye-candy this time around, with a few buff, Brazilian boys strutting their stuff.

"Two Bums has really taken off since we launched the brand last December and this season there are a lot more accessories and funky designs," Rosane said.

"I guess our first collection was just a starter — a taste of what we were promising to bring to Australia — this season we've really gone all out."

And if you're a little scared about slipping into one of the tiny numbers, heed spokesgirl Kate Mellis's advice.

"When I first looked at a Brazilian, I thought I would never wear one, but when you put it on, you realise the less material you wear on your bum, the smaller it looks — it's true!"

I don't know if I'm 100% convinced about that one, but either way the new collection is bright, fun, and you guessed it... a little bit cheeky.
